Conference Track Topics

SESSION I

→ TITLE: YOUTH, FAMILIES, AND ADDICTION

Workshop Description:

This presentation will explore the challenges youth and families face with substance abuse from dynamics leading to the start of abuse, mechanisms of the brain in abuse, and factors in obtaining and maintaining abstinence. The impact of abuse and the process for family support and change will be highlighted as well as the challenges our youth now face with the opioid epidemic.

SESSION II

→ TITLE: “BEHIND THE MASK OF A CHILD RAPIST – HOPE’S JOURNEY”

Workshop Description:

This workshop will follow the life of a young child who at an early age began to be molested and raped by a caregiver and will follow the traumatic events of her life into adulthood. Following this story will help provide participants with the tools needed to not only investigate such a crime but also provide the on-going services for the child victim. This workshop will identify the problem of child molestation and provide investigators with insight into what these children experience, and how that knowledge can assist in better understanding the crime. This information will help you to complete a more thorough investigation, which will greatly improve achieving a successful arrest and prosecution of the perpetrator. Other service providers such as Child Protective Services, Victim Witness, Mental Health, and the CAC will also learn the importance of ongoing services to assist the child as they learn to deal with the aftermath of such a traumatic event in their life. This workshop will define the two most prevalent sexual offenders, the situational offender and the preferential offender, and how each works to carefully groom and seduce their child victims through the use of attention, affection, kindness and gifts.

SESSION III

→ TITLE: MEDICAL COMPONENT OF A SUSPECTED CHILD ABUSE EVALUATION - DEMYSTIFYING THE PROCESS AND CLARIFYING OUTCOME EXPECTATIONS: WHAT WE CAN SAY AND WHAT WE CANNOT SAY

Workshop Description:

This workshop will provide multidisciplinary team members a better understanding of how the medical examination contributes to the evaluation of the suspected child abuse victims. Those attending this workshop should be able to:

- discuss the evolution of the medical exam with a focus on medical-legal implications
- cite situations in which legal outcomes can be impacted by false or misleading medical testimony
- describe to a mother, father and child (in an age appropriate manner) what to expect for a medical examination
- note the dichotomy between the usual medical interview and the minimal facts history
- talk about the fundamental difference between an evaluation for physical abuse and sexual abuse
- interpret the report provided by the medical examiner
- describe a process of reaching consensus used to develop the Adams Classification
- appreciate the expertise of the SANE-P nurse and compare to the performance of a physician without specific training in child abuse
- discuss the analogy of the surgeon to the operating room and child abuse expert to court
- advocate for the importance of the medical exam as part of every comprehensive and child centric approach to any multidisciplinary evaluation of child abuse.

The speakers are both recognized experts in the field of child abuse. The format of the workshop will include didactics, case presentations and interactive attendee participation.
